

Since its inception AC&M completed many projects in all areas of TMT sector.

With a great respect to those who considered our services helpful we would like to emphasize that during this period it was a pleasure for us to provide our assistance to many industry professionals who shared their knowledge and experience with us in every research project or M&A deal we were involved.

We do not want to earn any publicity or make self-advertisement by listing big names here.

Keeping the confidentiality of our clients we would like to thank all of you for the interest to our services and assure that we are ready to help should you need an advice again.
